News

Strong prices for Australian material continue. Hundreds of new dealers on the internet have really pushed average circulated coins to unprecedented levels.

Public auctions are setting new records regularly with strong attendances. Gone are the days I remember well where three people turned up to a major Melbourne auction.

I recently attended the Long Beach show in California. Ponterio had a nice selection of Australian (these lots came up at 1 in the morning). Whilst competitive bidding came on the phone from Australia I still managed to buy most of the Australian proofs on offer. The Goldberg sale next day saw 10 million worth of coins sold with Heritage a mere 25 million. The latter had a few better Australian coins mostly selling at local levels or better.

I had a constructive meeting with PCGS who are planning to have their Australian registry software up in early new year. This enables any one with a PCGS graded coin to have the coin photographed & lodged on PCGS's site. PCGS currently has 18,000 sets on it's US site as well as 800 sets on it's Canadian site.

The Australian registry will also join that of the Phillipines, Japan, Germany, Canada & the US.

Coming Up

We will be attending the ANDA fair in Perth this February. Also in the new year I hope to have our next Coinline. Plenty of new stock which includes a $60,000 GB Collection, a $50,000 NZ collection & the finest set of Fiji yet completed. I have also just bought back from a client an extensive Australian collection bits of which will be in the next Coinline. We will also be attending the Coin show at the Town Hall in Sydney. The dates are November 30th to December 2nd. If you want to pick up any lots there give me a call & I will bring them along.

Thank you to regular bidders in Coinline and good luck in bidding this time around.

Regards Chris Buesnell
